

Mary-Louise Toki

A vision for Baldivis.

I grew up in Rockingham and had a career in finance. Travelled the world. Then met my husband and had 3 beautiful kids. My husband's work initially took us to the remote town of Newman, where we undertook a residential role with his employer, for three years.

Being a small business owner, I understand the unique challenges that local businesses face, especially when juggling the responsibilities of a family. My husband's frequent work-related absences and the presence of three young children, including a son on the autism spectrum and a daughter born with Cystic Fibrosis.

The unwavering commitment I have for my family's well-being and positive outlook on these challenges has instilled in me resilience and determination.

The 2023 Local Government election is an opportunity to pursue my passion for community service. I understand the importance of open lines of communication between residents and their elected representatives. I want to be a voice and advocate on your behalf to the local government.

One of my central priorities as a potential councillor is the safety of Baldivis residents.

I have a clear vision for achieving this safety. I envision a community where there is "less theft, hooning, vandalism, and antisocial behaviors." I am committed to working tirelessly to make this vision a reality. My proposal to increase monitored CCTV in troubled areas & residential cctv subsidies demonstrates my practical approach to addressing safety concerns.

Other priorities include -

Keeping rates under CPI.

More street lights for visibility and road improvements for Sixty Eight Road & Mandurah Road.

Supporting local businesses.

While I may not claim to possess all the answers, I wholeheartedly believe in the power of active listening and community collaboration. I will always be accessible to you, ready to address your concerns, and willing to take responsibility for my actions and decisions.
