3.16 Asbestos Awareness Stall

Author:

Mrs Erica King, Manager Health and Building Services

The City's Health Services supported Asbestos Awareness month by having an asbestos awareness stall in the City's Administration foyer in early December 2025.

The stall provided information on the safe handling of asbestos materials within the home, when planning a renovation.

Asbestos can be located in various sources in homes built before 1990, and it is vital that appropriate safety precautions are taken when handling asbestos containing materials.

A social media post about the stall also provided links to the City's website for additional information on handling asbestos materials safely.

To encourage attendance to the stall, a home renovation prize pack was also offered, including various materials and protective equipment.

3.17 Air Quality Monitoring Station

Author:

Mrs Erica King, Manager Health and Building Services

Following Council's consideration of Annual Electors' Meeting motion in 2024, the City commenced discussions with the Department of Water and Environmental Regulation (DWER) regarding additional air monitoring within the City of Rockingham.

Air quality is monitored by DWER, with several Air Quality Monitoring Stations (AQMS) installed across the Perth metropolitan area. These AQMS relay data back to DWER, which is published daily on its website.

Permanent AQMS are expensive to install, and any additional requests for AQMS are considered by DWER on a wider basis. As such, temporary AQMS are usually deployed as an interim measure to determine the suitability of a site before a permanent AQMS is considered.

There is an existing DWER AQMS on Governor Road, Rockingham, however, it is limited in capability and does not record PM2.5 particulates.

City Officers have worked with DWER to facilitate a second location on Governor Road, Rockingham for a temporary AQMS, which is able to monitor for PM2.5 particulates as well as provide additional meteorological data. The second site is being used as a 12 month trial and will help guide discussions on future air quality monitoring within the City.

The temporary AQMS was installed on Governor Road in December 2025.

(i) Strengthening Telecommunications Against Natural Disasters (STAND)

In December 2025, the City received notification from the Commonwealth Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development, Communications and the Arts confirming the nomination for a second designated City evacuation centre (Baldivis Indoor Sports Complex) to be included in the STAND Sky Muster Extension and Expansion Program.

What does this mean?

Under the STAND program, the Baldivis Indoor Sports Complex will receive a satellite service that provides a broadband internet connection allowing the centre to stay connected and informed when local telecommunication networks have been disrupted.

Program Background

Following the devastating 2019-2020 bushfire season, Sky Muster satellite services were installed at sites across Australia under the Strengthening Telecommunications Against Natural Disasters program. The program will:

- Extend the operating period of all existing Community Wi-Fi sites until 31 December 2027;
- Expand Community Wi-Fi services to up to a further 500 sites across Australia; and
- Undertake a refresh of battery back-up at existing large sites where needed.

More information about the provision of satellite connections to emergency services and evacuation centres can be found here <https://www.infrastructure.gov.au/provision-satellite-connections-emergency-services-and-evacuation-centres>

(ii) Heatwave Assistance - TeleRedi Service

The Department of Health in partnership with Australian Red Cross has commenced the TeleRedi service for Western Australians. This free welfare check service provides regular phone based wellbeing calls to those who may be more vulnerable to the effects of extreme heat.

Each call comes from one (1) of the Australian Red Cross volunteers, offering reassurance, care and connection. If a call goes unanswered or someone appears unwell or distressed, an escalation process is activated to ensure their safety and wellbeing.

People can self-register, otherwise carers can register on someone's behalf.

(iii) Warnbro Bushfire

In late December 2025 and into January 2026 firefighters, emergency responders and support crews worked tirelessly to protect our community from bushfires that burned through approximately 93 hectares across Cooloongup, Warnbro and Waikiki.

In the face of intense and erratic fire behaviour, along with strong winds and the added danger of unexploded ordnance, more than 100 career and volunteer firefighters, including DBCA crews, and aerial support responded swiftly to protect lives and properties. There were no reported injuries and critical assets, including Warnbro train station, escaped any major damage.

Local volunteer brigades from Baldvis, Rockingham, Karnup and Secret Harbour worked tirelessly alongside career firefighters from across the metropolitan area. Additional support also came from neighbouring local government bushfire brigades in Kwinana, Gosnells, Serpentine-Jarrahdale and Kalamunda, highlighting the strength of regional partnerships and our shared commitment to community safety.

3.2 Tree Removals - Approvals Issued Under Delegated Authority

Author:	Karina Graham, Administration and Projects Support Officer

In accordance with clause 4.11 and Schedules 4 and 5 of Town Planning Scheme No.2 (TPS2), written approval from the City is required to remove any native tree from 'Rural', 'Special Rural' and 'Special Residential' zoned land.

In circumstances where a subdivision or development approval is not in place that approves the removal of trees, landowners can seek approval to remove trees if they are deemed to be dead, diseased or dangerous.

At the time of writing, the City had received 12 tree removal requests in December 2025 and January 2026.

A total of 16 trees were approved for removal based on being assessed by suitably qualified arborists for either being dead, dangerous and/or diseased.

- Thirteen trees at Vibe Baldivis Lifestyle Village ('Rural') were approved for removal following a site inspection. The trees were dead (deemed by qualified arborist). The request was to remove 14 trees but tree #3 wasn't deemed to be dead, diseased or dangerous by the arborist.
- One (1) non-native pine tree on a 'Special Rural' lot was approved for removal, following a site inspection.
- One (1) tree at Tuart Lakes Lifestyle Resort ('Rural', 'Development') was provided with retrospective approved for removal. A large limb fell off a Tuart (#28) causing minor damage to a car, gutter and roof. Large crack at the base of the tree. (Deemed dangerous by qualified arborist).
- One (1) tree on a 'Special Rural' lot was approved for removal due to poor structure. (Deemed dangerous by qualified arborist).

Six (6) other applications did not require City approval as they were 'Residential' lots;

One (1) application was for 'habitat' pruning, so no approval required; and

One (1) other application is awaiting further information from the applicant.

3.3 Environmental Education Program

Author:	Ms Johanna Riddell and Mr Blake Rose, Environmental Education Officers

The City delivers ongoing education on the topics of natural environment, sustainability and waste education.

Our education programs are undertaken in local reserves, community centres, schools, libraries and through social media and other e-platforms including the GREEN e-newsletter and aim to serve a broad cross section of the community. There was no broader environmental education delivered during January 2026. Education Officers have been implementing waste education as outlined in Section 3.4 below.

3.4 Community Education - Waste Education

Author:	Ms Johanna Riddell and Mr Blake Rose, Environmental Education Officers

Following the implementation of FOGO, the Sustainability and Environment Team is responsible for community education which is summarised below:

Education Officers continue to prioritise face-to-face engagements since they are generally a more positive experience, reaching a cross section of our community. Officers attended the Rockingham Youth Beach Party on 16 January 2026 and engaged with over 100 youth.

More pop-up stalls have been held and are scheduled at shopping centres and community events, as follows:

- Waste education pop-up stall at Rockingham Shopping Centre: 4, 5 and 6 February 2026
- Waste education pop-up at Karnup Movie Night: 13 February 2026
- Waste education pop-up Mary Davies Library Street Event: 14 February 2026
- Waste education pop-up at Puppets in the Park Event: 28 March 2026
- Grow it Local Tour afternoon tea at Golden Bay Community Garden: 14 April 2026

Personalised, in-home waste visits are becoming increasingly popular. Education Officers use these sessions to support households finding ways to reduce their general waste, which fills up the red lidded bin. Officers have provided three (3) home waste visits and have one (1) scheduled.

School and library information sessions are an important part of the education strategy. One (1) waste incursion was provided at a daycare in the school holidays, reaching 30 children and 10 staff.

To further support our community to adapt to the reduced red bin collection, Officers are:

- Developing a Local Recycling Directory to connect households with collectors of recycled materials, such as used coffee pods and shredded paper, that would otherwise end up in the general waste bin.
- Working to expand the City's 'Library of Things', which currently has bunting and reusable party pack items available to loan from Rockingham local libraries. This initiative provides an opportunity for residents to 'borrow' and 'reuse' rather than buy and dispose.
- Creating an educational video to promote the Cloth Nappy Subsidy Program on the City's website and provide a resource for a range of stakeholders, such as the Rockingham General Hospital.

Officers continue to respond to FOGO and waste questions from residents (CRMs).

3.12 Development Application and Lot Production Statistics

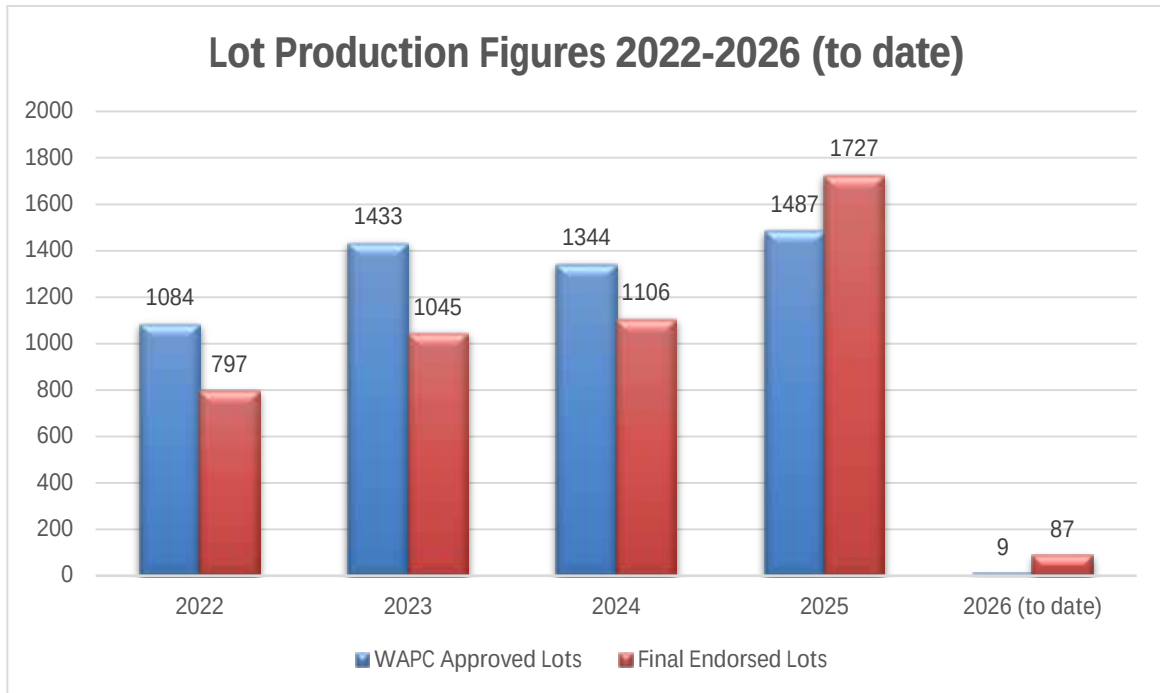

Author: Administration Team

The following graph represents the total number of Development Applications received and approved by the City for each of the last five (5) years.

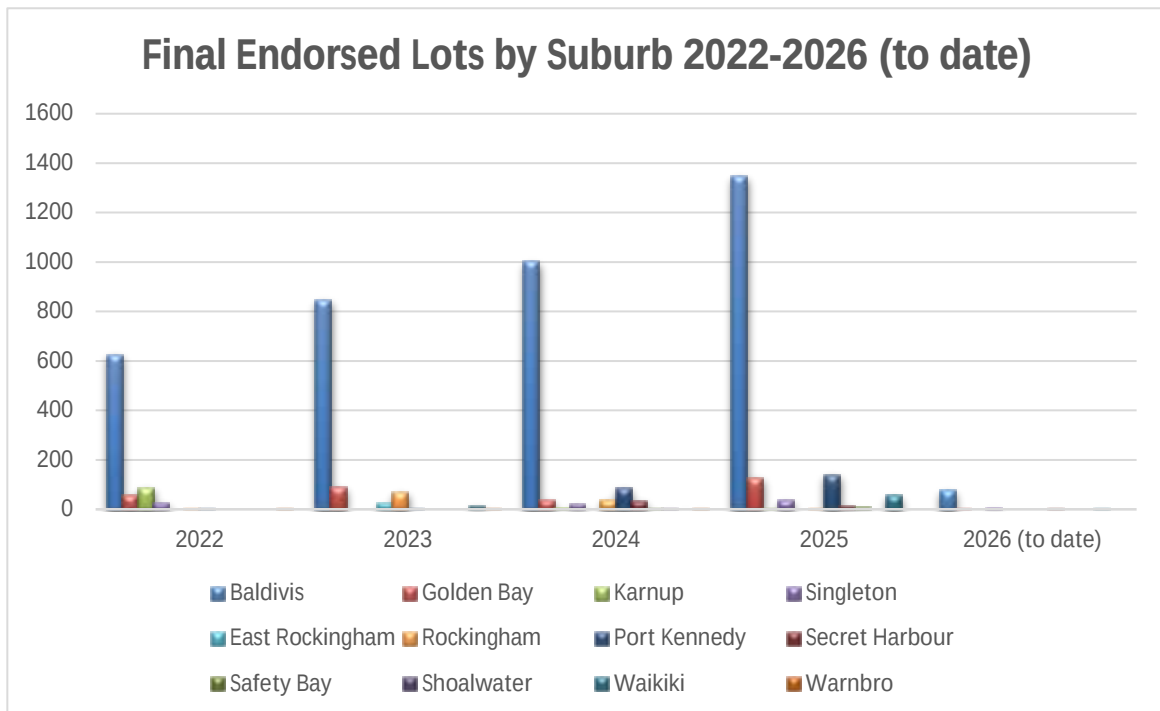

The following graph represents freehold lot activity within the suburbs of the City of Rockingham for each of the last five (5) years.

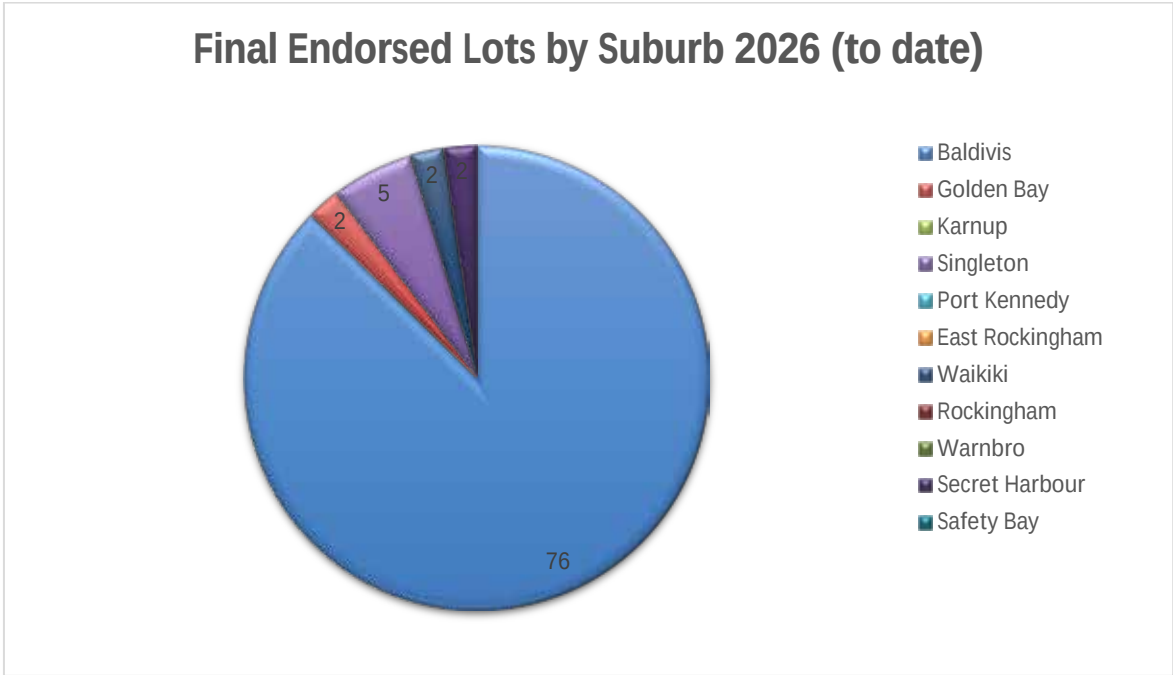

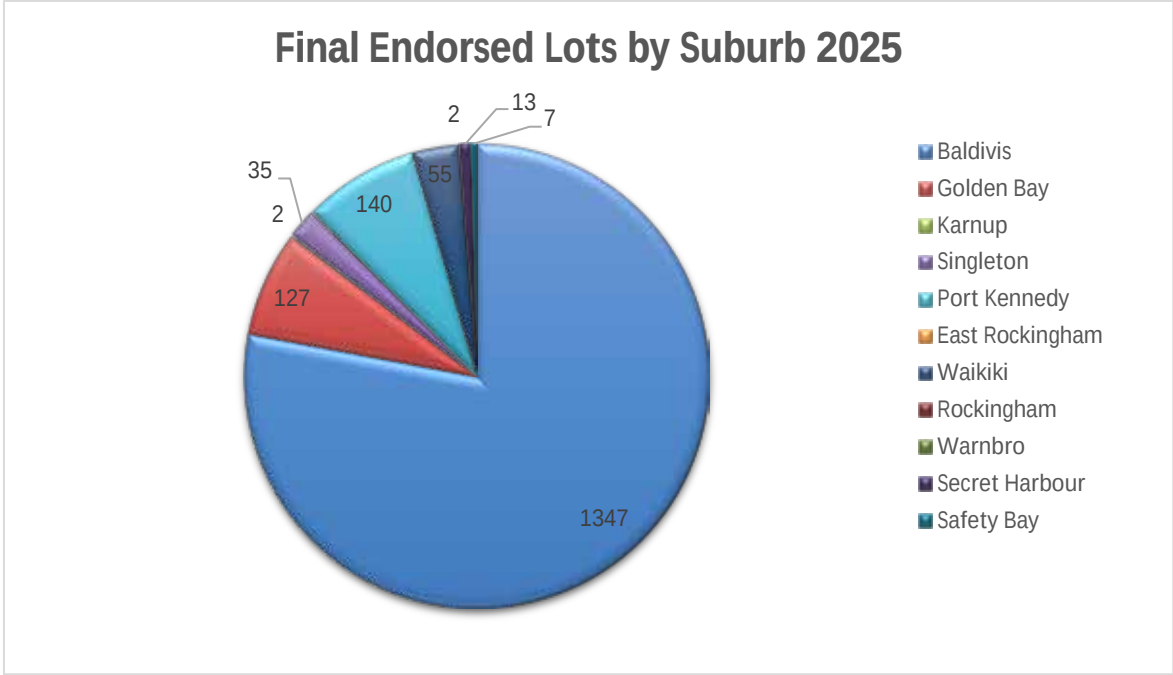

This data provides information relating to the number of conditional freehold residential lot approvals by the Western Australian Planning Commission (WAPC Approved Lots) and the number of lots that have received final approval (Endorsed Deposited Plan) by the WAPC (Final Endorsed Lots). Lots which have received final approval can then be created by Landgate.

The below graph represents the final endorsed lot production figures, broken down by suburb for each of the last five (5) years.

3.13 Proposed Baldvis Zone Substation
Author:	Mr Mike Ross, Manager Statutory Planning

Western Power is proposing to construct a new zone substation at Baldvis (Pike Road) to meet rapidly increasing electricity demand in the southern metropolitan area, particularly Baldvis. The project responds to sustained population growth, escalating peak electricity demand and emerging capacity constraints at existing substations, especially Waikiki (WAI).

A zone substation is a critical part of the power grid, acting as a voltage-stepping down hub that takes high voltage electricity from the transmission lines (e.g. 132kV) and converts it to a medium voltage (e.g. 22kV) suitable for local distribution across large areas like suburbs. They feed smaller distribution substations that can supply homes and businesses.

2. Existing Waikiki Zone Substation (WAI)

3. Example Photo - Zone Substation

How do we get power into homes?

Why the Project is Needed

Baldivis is one of Western Australia's fastest-growing residential areas. Electricity demand in the area has increased more rapidly than previously forecast and is placing significant pressure on the existing distribution network. Waikiki substation, which currently supplies most of Baldivis via long 22kV feeders, is approaching its planning capacity and will not be able to reliably support future growth.

What is Being Proposed

Western Power proposes to:

- build a new Baldivis Zone Substation (BVS) at 60 Pike Road, a site already owned by Western Power and reserved for public utility purposes under the Metropolitan Region Scheme;
- connect the substation to the existing 132kV transmission network; and
- transfer Baldivis electrical loads from long distribution feeders to a closer, transmission-fed supply point.

The new substation would include three (3) standard 33 MVA transformers, providing sufficient long-term capacity for forecast growth and improving overall network resilience.

Options Assessed

Five (5) options were assessed by Western Power, as follows:

1. Do nothing.
2. Expand Waikiki Substation.
3. Build a new Baldivis Zone Substation (recommended option).
4. Non-network solutions to defer construction by three (3) years.
5. Non-network solutions to defer construction by five (5) years.

Preferred Option

Option 3 - Construction of a new Baldvis Zone Substation is Western Power's preferred and recommended option. It:

- has the lowest net present cost of all feasible options;
- provides a long-term, scalable solution for Baldvis growth;
- significantly relieves pressure on Waikiki substation;
- improves supply reliability and distribution transfer capacity across the wider Mandurah load area; and
- aligns with Western Power's regulatory, technical and planning obligations.

Timing

The proposed date for the new substation is December 2030, subject to regulatory approval.

Community and Planning Considerations

- The site is already reserved for electricity infrastructure, and development approval is not required.
- Western Power is required to consult with stakeholders and consider community feedback as part of the regulatory approval process.
- Public submissions were invited until 19 December 2025 and will inform the final regulatory submission to the Economic Regulation Authority.

Overall Conclusion

The Options Paper concludes that constructing a new Baldvis Zone Substation is the most efficient, reliable, and cost-effective way to meet current and future electricity demand in Baldvis. It represents a strategic investment that supports population growth, housing development, and long-term network reliability while minimising costs to electricity users.

City of Rockingham Submission

The City has lodged a submission with Western Power, acknowledging the need for additional electricity infrastructure in Baldvis and recognising Western Power's assessment that a new zone substation represents the preferred long-term network solution. The City requested that Western Power clearly demonstrate that alternative sites have been appropriately considered to minimise residential and amenity impacts.

Should the Pike Road site ultimately proceed, the City strongly emphasises the importance of early and ongoing engagement, high-quality design, and robust landscaping and mitigation measures to ensure the facility is sensitively integrated into its residential context.

A copy of the City's submission is attached (Appendix 2).

Here's our top tips to keep your bins fresh this summer!

- Store your bins in the shade with their lids closed
- Freeze food scraps until FOGO collection day
- Wash your bin
- Sprinkle vinegar, baking soda or citronella in the bin or on the rim to reduce smells and pests

FOGO stands for Food Organics and Garden Organics, so remember: food scraps like fruit, vegetables, meat (including bones), seafood (including shells), dairy and cereals can go in your green-lidded bin along with garden waste for weekly kerbside collection.

Update - The algal bloom has dissipated and the warning signs have been removed.

Health Warning - Algal Bloom !

We've spotted an algal bloom off Safety Bay Beach, believed to be Trichodesmium, also known as 'red tide' or 'sea sawdust'. This type of algae is known to irritate skin, so we've put signs at the beach entries to warn swimmers from entering the water. These algal blooms are common at this time of the year, and usually dissipate quickly. Our officers will continue to monitor the bloom and remove the signs when it is safe to swim in the area.

Homelessness Funding Response Project

The Homelessness Response Pilot Project is using the Assertive Outreach budget to support the intervention response and/or prevention of homelessness in Rockingham. There are no updates this month.

Homelessness Responses

Ending the year of 2025, the CSSS team have completed over 600 requests related to people experiencing homelessness across the City of Rockingham (City). These actions include referrals to Assertive Outreach, Ranger Services and other internal teams, as well as private or State Government land holders. The City's website has recently been updated and all public facing requests via the website are now referred directly to St Patrick's Community Support Service.

Encampment Responses

The City is collaborating with State Government land managers, local homelessness service providers, the Office of Homelessness and WA Police to monitor/manage encampment responses across multiple sites within the City.

A risk management and person-centred welfare approach is being applied to all sites by the following State Agencies:

- Development WA: East Rockingham
- Department of Transport: Mangles Bay
- Department of Biodiversity Conservation and Attraction: Rockingham Lakes Regional Parks
- Water Corporation: Rockingham central.

Within these meetings, the City is requesting the Office of Homelessness and other State Departments raise these matters with the relevant Ministers for their attention, highlighting the lack of crisis/transitional accommodation options available in the Rockingham area.

16 Days in WA

On Friday 28 November 2025, the City hosted a 16 Days in WA community event in partnership with the Safe Family Alliance and the City of Kwinana.

The event brought together 20 support services and approximately 150 community members, who united in support of the 16 Days in WA campaign to say Stop Violence Against Women. The 2025 theme, “Play Your Part,” served as a powerful reminder that meaningful change begins with each of us. Whether at home, in the workplace, in schools, or within the broader community, every action contributes to creating a safer and respectful community.

The City extends its sincere thanks to all who showed their support by taking a stand, raising awareness, wearing orange, attending events, and initiating important conversations.

This event is hosted on a rotational basis between the City of Rockingham and the City of Kwinana. In 2026, the City of Kwinana will host the event with the continued support of the City and the Safe Family Alliance.

Under the Weather: Climate Vulnerability and Homelessness Research Project

The City, together with several local service providers have partnered with the Home 2 Health research team at Notre Dame University, to obtain data to strengthen the understanding of weather impacts on people experiencing homelessness.

In December 2025, 4 temperature monitors were installed to measure temperature across location where people experiencing homelessness frequent. In addition, several monitors were also provided to individuals currently experiencing homelessness who volunteered to monitor temperatures in their current living environment.

Survey data is being collected by outreach and emergency relief teams to obtain information directly from people experiencing homelessness on their current living conditions/experiences, coping mechanisms, health impacts and suggestions for what may assist their situation.

Speed Sign Trailer

The speed sign trailer recently purchased by the Community Safety team is currently placed on The Esplanade Rockingham, in response to continued community concerns over speeding. This location was chosen in conjunction with the Technical Services team, who currently have temporary speed signs along Rockingham Beach Road. This now means both ends of this high traffic area will be covered by the speed signs and will aid in reduction of speeding in this area.

Beach Car Park Engagements

Volunteers and the Community Safety team have been visiting beach car parks to raise awareness and highlight the importance of removing valuables from motor vehicles. The team attended three locations at the end of November 2025 in Golden Bay, Rockingham and Safety Bay. Over the three days, 68 car sunshades, together with 68 packs of anti-theft screws were provided to those who attended.

Rockingham Police have noted a spike in these types of offences and the Safety team will be out again in January 2026 to continue to raise awareness in the community.

Corflute signs – Reporting

The Community Safety team continue to highlight the importance of reporting incidents and where to report them. The signs advise residents to report hoon driving and graffiti directly by scanning the QR codes. The codes take the residents to the Police pages for “Report a Hoon” and “Goodbye Graffiti”. The third side of the sign provides the telephone numbers for Police, Crimestoppers and Smartwatch. Initially ten signs have been placed in locations where residents have previously highlighted these issues to the City.

Road Safety Education

The City's Strategy, Marketing and Communications team confirmed the resharing of the State Government's education on eRideable laws and safety, which was published on the City's Facebook page prior to Christmas. This aligns with CSSS key strategy action 3.3 – Align with State Government and other relevant agencies to deliver targeted community messaging campaigns.

The CSSS team participated in the Rockingham Youth Centre's Youth Beach Party on Thursday 15 January 2026, where young people engaged in road safety quizzes with prizes, including free bike safety equipment. Information on eRideable laws and Bikelinc registration was also provided.

The Mary Davies Library and Community Centre embraced the festive and summer seasons with a range of lively, creative programs for families. A special Toddler Time with Boogie Woogie had children and parents dancing, singing, and enjoying Christmas-themed songs with fun props, creating a joyful and energetic atmosphere. The All You Can Craft Christmas Buffet was also a standout, with families enthusiastically making a variety of crafts while putting surplus materials to sustainable use; a highlight was seeing parents and children equally absorbed in the creative process.

Over the summer period, families enjoyed hands-on creative workshops inspired by the season. Beach-themed baking sessions with Bubbles Bakes produced delightful (and almost too good to eat) creations, while the Ocean Diorama activity showcased children's imaginations through impressive underwater scenes. With the school year approaching, children also decorated their own pencil cases using stickers, fabric markers, and beads, taking home a unique and practical item ready for back-to-school.

Our three-part mobile phone photography workshops with professional photographer Kingsley Klau were a hit, covering camera skills, practical shooting, and editing techniques. Participants built confidence and creativity across the sessions, culminating in a lively photography competition that drew exceptional engagement. These workshops highlighted the library's role in supporting digital and creative skills through interactive, hands-on learning.

Creative and social programs rounded out the year, with a festive Folded Book Page Christmas Decorations workshop and the December 2025 Fourth Friday Film screening, complete with a special end-of-year celebration. Both events were enthusiastically received, fostering social connection and showcasing the library as a vibrant, inclusive hub for the community.

Grow Cook Eat WA delivered a very well received Summer Feast cooking workshop to 15 people focusing on healthy nutrition with hands-on preparation and cooking stations to create a nutritious lunch of chicken and chickpea burgers, guacamole dip and Asian slaw which was shared by all, fostering social connection and community.

Local author, teacher and developmental editor Libby Iriks delivered an engaging author talk and launched her first novel Home to the Heart Country to an enthusiastic audience. Having worked on her manuscript in our upstairs study area, Libby shared her writing journey with professionalism, warmth and humour. Award winning, bestselling author Rachael Johns attended as an audience member to support Libby. Libby's discussion of her lead characters struggles with social anxiety resonated with the audience and prompted some very thoughtful questions. Our partnership with QBD Books continued with many attendees purchasing copies of the title and lining up for signing. It was a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

An event for young people to de-stress after a busy year of study was very successful. Held in the young adult area, many young people browsed the books while doing crafts. They were surprised by the range of graphic novels available as they had not visited the library in some time. Crafts included decorating library bags, canvases, jewellery making, and foil art. Teens also had the opportunity to have a cuddle with a kitten – what they all came to see. They were all happy sitting watching kittens play and getting to have a little snuggle. It was a very relaxing session which encouraged many teens to reengage with library services.

January 2026 School Holiday programs started with Edible Beaches with Bubble Bakes. Children were given the opportunity to create an Edible Beach with Jasmine from Bubble Bakes. They used their knowledge of colour mixing and creativity to blend fondant in primary colours and white to create an assortment of creatures and objects to go on their beach. They decorated beach umbrellas with edible markers on edible paper. These were all placed on top of 'sand' made from flour, sugar and butter and 'water' made from jelly. The children had a lot of fun creating their beaches and those who started eating them right away commented on how delicious they were. The children were all really proud of what they had created.

Eighty nine people attended the Summer Crafts session. Children and adults of a range of ages and abilities engaged in an assortment of crafts. Many parents commented how nice it was to have an activity they could bring along all of the different aged children and even participate in themselves. Activities included foil art, suncatchers, fabric art, scratch art, lanterns, fish puppets, make your own puzzles and more.

The Annual Summer Book Sale enjoyed a very successful opening weekend. 55 people were queueing at the door when we opened at 9am and the book sale was busy throughout the morning. We sold over a thousand withdrawn books during that first day. Many visitors shared their excitement browsing for bargains, with some searching for holiday reading, homeschooling families looking for resources and one gentleman commenting that he was looking for thrillers he could read in the bath without worry.

A number of community members visited the library during the Warnbro Fire to find respite. Families commented they did not feel safe staying home, particularly due to the smoke in the area. Community members were able to spend the day in a safe space at the library participating in a range of activities always on offer. This includes colouring in, board games, building with blocks, video games, Tovertafel, puzzles, and of course sharing books together.

Volunteers from Australia Red Cross came in to read a Story about Birdy and his friends in a bushfire and all the community service people who helped. They also discussed the recent Warnbro fire with the families who attended and handed out relevant information about being prepared. We provided a craft to go along with the theme making a cardboard backpack and colouring in the items they would pack if they needed to leave in case of an emergency.

Story Time in the Park Harbour Playground Secret Harbour. This included story time moving through our favourite songs, parachute songs and some bubble songs and two big book stories. We engaged a Bubbleologist, so when attendees weren't singing and dancing, they were taking a moment to enjoy creating their own massive bubbles. We handed out yellow and orange bags, Library Guides, CoR My Journey to School and CoR Nature passports.

Safety Bay Library continues to host bi-monthly adult workshops in the Hublet space, focusing on how to use the library's cricut machine. On Tuesday 2 December 2025, participants learned how to use the cricut machine and heat press to design and create their own custom festive T-shirts. Attendees enjoyed choosing their designs and were impressed by the professional results.

Lorraine Marshall from Lorraine Makes returned to facilitate a popular Kokedama workshop for adults on Monday 8 December 2025. Participants were guided through the process of creating their own moss-wrapped plant ball, perfect as a gift or to keep. Each handmade Kokedama was unique, and attendees shared how much they enjoyed the experience, with many eager to attend a future session.

The Rockingham Libraries team were invited to host a stall at the Syren Street Festival. The festival features local small-business stalls and a range of free entertainment for families. This was a fantastic opportunity to engage with families and community members outside the library. The team attended with children's activities, Meta Cat, and a range of information. Two hundred Better Beginnings bags were handed out to children, and families eagerly looked for the library stall to pick one up. Many people commented that they did not currently use library services and were interested to learn about the engaging and free events coming up, particularly the school holiday activities. Meta Cat was very popular and attracted many people to come over and chat with staff after noticing her looking around. The Paint Rockingham REaD mascot, Widi, also visited the event and roamed around promoting reading.

Play in the Past visited Under 5s STEAM Lab in celebration of National Games Month. Nicola had a range of objects from the past include games and toys for children to explore. The items encouraged parents and grandparents to share stories from their childhoods. Children were eager to explore what the items could do and ask lots of questions about how they were used.

Kindling Creative kicked off the summer holiday workshops with a Gelatine Printing session on Wednesday 7 January 2026. This highly popular workshop encouraged participants to explore texture, colour, and patterns to create unique prints. Suitable for all abilities and experience levels, attendees transformed their layered prints into collages, greeting cards, and gift tags.

January 2026 started strong with all the school holiday activities booked to capacity. Young community members got the chance to construct and decorate a wooden desk garden, get hands on with a range of science experiments with Supersonic Science, learn about our precious oceans with Ocean Discovery Education and create bespoke dream catchers. Our tiny community members were invited to explore soft play all day and our young people learnt the skill of punch needle creation.

December 2025 began with a Story Time led by Red Cross volunteers, introducing children to the idea of emergency preparedness with an activity that encouraged children to think about what they would pack in an emergency backpack. On Monday 29 and Tuesday 30 December 2025, there was a fire in Warnbro that affected those living in Warnbro, Waikiki and Safety Bay. On these days many members of the community used the library as a safe space and to escape the smoke. At the library they were able to relax and play board games while waiting for the severity of the fire to be downgraded.

January 2026 saw the return of Rhyme Time and Toddler Time with updated times to better align with Warnbro Community High School's session times. The school holiday program has also been in full swing with all activities fully booked including Jazzie Shazzie dance sessions, summer crafts, giant Lego and a bubble tea workshop for teenagers where they learned how to make tapioca pearls. For the adults in January 2026, Warnbro Community Library hosted a variety of events that appealed to different audiences. A woven raffia fan workshop provided insight into weaving techniques through an instructional video from Aboriginal artist Michelle Earl and a Cookies and Cream Bubble Tea workshop presented by Nami from Nami's Art Room showed participants how to make a healthier bubble tea. The most popular event in January 2026 was Metal Detecting for gold presented by Bill from Gold Prospecting WA. A total of 37 people attended on the day for a great information session that provided participants with practical tips and tricks for using metal detectors and where to look for gold. Another crowd pleaser, was the Book Sale which had people queuing at the doors before we opened on Sunday 18 January 2026.

With the high temperatures in January 2026, Warnbro Community Library has seen many families making use of the space to escape the heat. There are fans set up all over the library for many people to sit by, relax and cool down. The Nintendo Switch has been heavily used and so have the board games with many people playing for hours.

The Warnbro Community Library's young adult and graphic novel collections have also had a refresh in January 2026. Staff spent a few days shuffling these collections around to create a graphic novel hang out zone and allow for more front facing books. This has reinvigorated the space, creating a vibrant, attractive and welcoming area for all to comfortably browse and use.

3.7 Christmas at the Libraries

Author: Ms Alison Oliver, Manager Library Services

Christmas is always a busy time at the City's Libraries with activities both in the libraries and in the community for people of all ages.

Christmas Book Drop

Library elves went out under cover of darkness and dropped books across the City for people to find, read and hopefully share with others. This is a very popular tradition, a great way to advertise the libraries and to encourage people to read. Books for all ages were waiting to be discovered.

For the Adults

Warnbro Community Library hosted events to help people organise and create decorations and cards. On Wednesday 3 December 2025, artist Hollie Jade ran a Watercolour Christmas Cards workshop. Participants learnt to paint their own cards and left with a couple of cards and gift tags for presents. On Monday 8 December 2025, artist Miriam Atkinson taught people how to make Christmas wreaths using natural materials. Everyone got to create a wreath to take home and hang on their door.

For the Kids

Jasmine from Bubble Bakes ran a special Christmas STEAM Lab at Safety Bay Library on Wednesday 17 December 2025. Children were given the opportunity to make a mini edible gingerbread crush Christmas garden. They were very excited to see what they could make, with snowmen being the most popular choice. The children had the opportunity to problem solve, be creative and try something new that they could then share and enjoy with their family.

Born to Sparkle hosted an exciting Christmas Dance Party for the final Under 5's STEAM Lab of the year at Safety Bay Library on Thursday 18 December 2025. Children eagerly danced, played games and participated in an obstacle course. It was lots of fun to finish the year with lots of Christmas cheer.

Warnbro Community Library hosted a variety of Christmas events for children. There was a Christmas themed Under's STEAM Lab session that offered several craft stations where young children made Christmas ornaments using snow dough, paper plates, pipe cleaners and pop sticks. For children aged six to twelve, the library ran a gift making events including making bath bombs while learning about the chemical reactions between dry ingredients and wet ingredients and cooking rocky road gift boxes.

On Thursday 18 December 2025, Warnbro Community Library partnered with Warnbro Community High School, whose students performed Christmas carols for an audience of nearly 80 children and parents. Their singing created a warm and joyful atmosphere, and the enthusiastic applause clearly uplifted the students.

Library staff also helped out someone special and 130 children (there may have been a few adults as well) received a personalised letter from Santa throughout December 2025. We received so many positive responses from these.

For All Ages

The Annual Christmas Carols and Craft evening at Rockingham Library was very well attended with 256 people recorded. The Mandurah Concert Band performed carols on the grass outside the library. Families brought picnics. Mrs Browns mobile coffee van provided refreshments. Craft stations in the foyer delivered a Christmas craft buffet for all ages. A roaming photo booth enabled groups of friends and family groups to take festive photos then immediately get prints. Families really enjoyed this, people had made the effort to come dressed in Christmas jumpers and Santa hats so really appreciated being able to receive seasonal family photographs to keep.

Safety Bay Library celebrated Christmas with an All-You-Can-Craft Christmas Buffet event. This all-ages event attracted over 50 participants during the two-hour session. Craft materials were arranged buffet-style, allowing attendees to create Christmas decorations, gifts, or simply explore their creativity. Festive music filled the library, and refreshments were available for everyone to enjoy while crafting.

3.8 International Day of People With Disability

Author: Ms Alison Oliver, Manager Library Services

The City's Libraries hosted a number of events for International Day of People with Disability.

Natalie Garmson gave a personal talk on neurodiversity, sharing her journey and how it has shaped her life and work. The session encouraged empathy, inclusive thinking, and reinforced the library as a welcoming space for meaningful conversations.

A special Under 5s STEAM Lab was presented by Tara, from Tiny Hands Auslan Signs, who taught families a range of signs that could be used at home. Children got involved by suggesting words they wanted to learn. A number of these signs were incorporated in the popular book Where is the green sheep? By Mem Fox. Tara read and signed this book while children and families followed along with the signing. Tara also read and signed the book The koala who could by Rachel Bright, encouraging children to try new things like learning Auslan. This was followed by accessible sensory activities, encouraging children to learn and play through exploration.

Nessa Vlajkovic spoke about her lived experiences as a competitive ballroom dancer, editor with ABC News, motivational speaker and deafblind advocate. With support from her interpreter from Vital Interpreting, Nessa delivered an inspiring and impactful presentation. She described her academic achievements including two degrees, ongoing Law studies and her commitment to empowering the disability community. She demonstrated the Braille Bluetooth device she uses, and showed videos of her groundbreaking performances as the first deafblind competitor in the mainstream category of the Blackpool Dance Festival. Her positive energy and can-do attitude left a lasting impression on everyone present. It was also an opportunity to promote the Tovertafel or "Magic Table" to people with disability and their carers with two Discover the Tovertafel sessions using props like noodles and rainbow coloured dusters to make it more fun and engaging.

Local author and creative Sally Newman delivered a powerful talk about mentoring writers who are all living with an invisible disability to help them share their stories, which became the anthology Finding Invisible People. Two of the contributors joined her onstage for a question and answer session.

Warnbro Community Library also hosted an Unleash your Inner Hero: D&D event in collaboration with Community Development Officer (Disability Access and Inclusion). This was an all-inclusive session for teenagers to build community and celebrate A Day for People with Disability.

Author:	Ms Michelle Sultan, Community Development Officer (Reconciliation)

Dual Naming

Following Council's endorsement in September 2025, the City will commence community consultation on the proposed implementation of Dual Names at 10 priority sites across Rockingham.

Dual naming is the official recognition of a place by two names; one of Aboriginal language origin and one of non-Aboriginal origin. This project restores Nyoongar language and cultural knowledge to places of shared significance, strengthening reconciliation by embedding First Nations heritage into the City's identity.

The 10 proposed names were developed in partnership with Whadjuk and Binjareb Traditional Owners and Knowledge Holders in 2023. Community feedback will commence in February 2026 and will be sought through:

- Targeted consultation with residents and businesses within 400m of each site via a letter drop
- Broader public comment via the City's website (Share Your Thoughts), Rock Port, and social media.

Feedback will be reported to Council prior to final submission to Landgate for approval. Subject to this process, dual naming will be progressively implemented across the 10 sites over five years.

Celebrate Australia Day

With the Celebrate Australia Day event having only just wrapped up, information is still being collated and will be reported in the next bulletin. Overall the event was well received, and despite a slower start due to some colder weather and rain, attendance numbers appeared to be strong by the end of the evening. The fireworks display at 8.30pm was well received, as was the children's craft activities, roaming entertainment, and amusement rides. The stage kept everyone entertained, with Peppa Pig being a big hit with children, and Switch and the Samba Dancers being a highlight for all ages. The event was assisted by the Australian Government through the National Australia Day Council.

Dear Ms Lukas

Re: Capacity Expansion Project: Proposed Baldivis Zone Substation

The City of Rockingham appreciates the opportunity to comment on Western Power's Capacity Expansion Project: Proposed Baldivis Zone Substation and provides the following submission.

The Options Paper clearly identifies that rapid population growth in Baldivis is placing significant pressure on the Waikiki and Meadow Springs substations, and that additional network capacity is required to ensure reliability and regulatory compliance. The City acknowledges Western Power's assessment that Option 3 represents the preferred long-term solution from a network planning perspective to meet electricity demand in Baldivis and the broader Mandurah - Rockingham corridor.

Notwithstanding this, the City considers it appropriate to first question whether Western Power has given further consideration to alternative sites for a new substation. This includes land currently owned or managed by Western Power, or other suitable sites that could potentially be acquired, particularly where such sites may result in avoiding land use conflicts and reduced amenity impacts on established residential areas.

If Option 3 is ultimately confirmed by the Economic Regulation Authority, the City strongly recommends that Western Power undertake a comprehensive and transparent engagement process with affected residents and the City at an early stage. This engagement should clearly outline the design response and specific measures proposed to address amenity impacts.

Site Selection

The City understands that the selection of the current site has been informed by an extensive planning and assessment process, including:

- Detailed Location Assessments and the multi-stage site investigations commenced over a decade ago.
- A Multi-Criteria Decision Analysis (MCDA) process involving subject-matter experts, environmental specialists, engineering teams and external consultants, including landscape sensitivity assessments.

- Previous consultation and liaison with the City of Rockingham dating back to the original site identification in the late 1990s, and subsequent discussions in 2008-2009 regarding alternative sites (including Pike Road).
- Earlier advice from the City regarding the locational suitability, including recommendations to shift the facility further west of Eighty Road to minimise residential interface impacts.

While this history is acknowledged, the City remains of the view that it should be demonstrated that alternative locations have been duly considered, including those that do not have a residential context.

Population Growth

Baldivis is one of Western Australia's fastest-growing residential corridors. Population projections from the City's demographer indicates:

- Baldivis North is forecast to grow at an average annual rate of approximately 5.6%;
- Baldivis South continues to experience steady and sustained growth at around 1.8% annually; and
- Across the City of Rockingham as a whole, population growth of approximately 80,000 new residents is forecast between 2025–2046.

These projections confirm the need for timely planning and delivery of essential infrastructure, including electricity supply to support urban areas north of Sixty Eight Road and west of the Kwinana Freeway.

The City also notes that North-East Baldivis and Karnup have now been identified as future urban areas. Their relative separation from existing urban areas should be considered as part of longer-term substation planning and network configuration.

Long-Planned Substation Location and MRS Reservation

The City acknowledges that the proposed site at 60 Pike Road, Baldivis:

- Is Reserved 'Public Purposes - SEC' under the Metropolitan Region Scheme; and
- Has been identified as a long-term utility site for many years.

If Option 3 proceeds, however, careful consideration must be given to the suitability of the site in its current residential context, including layout, setbacks, noise management, electromagnetic emissions (EME) and landscaping.

Amenity, Design and Landscaping

Although Western Power is exempt from formal development approval under the Electricity Corporation Act 2005, Section 6 of the Planning and Development Act (2005) requires consultation with the relevant local government authority to ensure the works are, as far as reasonably practicable:

- Consistent with the intent of relevant planning schemes; and
- Designed to minimise adverse impacts on local amenity.

Accordingly, the City requests that Western Power work closely with the City throughout the detailed design phase, including consideration of:

- High quality architectural treatment of perimeter walls with the inclusion of public art as an opportunity and fencing (example new Baldivis Police Station);
- Effective noise attenuation measures; and
- A comprehensive landscape strategy incorporating substantial screening and mature planting to mitigate visual impacts and better integrate the facility into the surrounding residential environment.

The City of Rockingham thanks Western Power for the opportunity to provide comment on the Options Paper and looks further to continued engagement as the project progresses.

Yours faithfully

PETER RICCI

Climate Change Minister outlines approach to managing coastal hazards

The Minister for Climate Change and Energy, The Hon Chris Bowen MP, has written to the Association Chair, Sharon Cadwallader, to provide an outline of how the Australian Government is working towards developing a National Coastal Hazards Management Framework.

The Minister states: “The recently released National Climate Risk Assessment and National Adaptation Plan (NAP) make clear the risks posed to coastal communities by climate change impacts.

“The NAP outlines how the Australian Government is building on existing work with states, territories and local governments to develop a National Coastal Hazards Management Framework.

“The framework will incorporate an integrated coastal management vision, goals and principles, and further consider climate change scenarios, sea level rise and nationally consistent guidance for risk-based decision-making in coastal management.

“The Australian Government will also work with state, territory and local government to create an action plan for the NAP by the end of 2026, working through the Energy and Climate Change Ministerial Council.

“This will give effect to priority actions identified for government at all levels of Australian society. I invite you and the Australian Coastal Councils Association to take part in these coordinated efforts through relevant channels.”

Association Chair, Sharon Cadwallader, welcomed the information provided by Minister Bowen.

“This is the first time the Australian Government has outlined its approach and timeframe for managing the risks posed by climate change and coastal hazards,” she said.

“It is encouraging to find that the approach to managing coastal hazards being pursued by the Australian Government focuses on the risks facing coastal communities identified by the Association.

“We have identified that the key actions required to address these risks are to establish a national coastal hazards adaptation strategy, to develop a funding program to implement the strategy and to appoint a Minister with specific portfolio responsibility for coasts.

“The Association has made a submission to the Energy and Climate Change Ministerial Council in support of these initiatives.”

AGM hears Association continues to advocate for additional support for coastal councils

At the Association's Annual General Meeting on 17 November, Chair Sharon Cadwallader told members that the Association continued to advocate strongly for additional support from the Australian and State Governments to assist coastal councils to manage the impact of coastal hazards.

"We made a submission to the Federal Government calling on the Australian, State and Territory governments to develop a coordinated national response to coastal climate risks and other coastal hazards," Association Chair Sharon Cadwallader said.

"The Minister for Emergency Management at the time, Senator Murray Watt, responded, stating that the Intergovernmental Coastal Hazards Working Group was working with the Department of Climate Change, Energy, the Environment and Water to develop a national framework for managing coastal hazards.

"The Minister said the Department was also conducting a National Risk Assessment and developing a National Adaptation Plan."

Sharon Cadwallader said the Association also made an approach to members of the Energy and Climate Change Ministerial Council.

"We were subsequently advised that the Ministerial Council was considering the recommendations of a report by the Coastal Hazards Working Group, including recommendations to prepare a national adaptation funding program and a national coastal hazards adaptation strategy," she said.

"These recommendations are in line with proposals in the 2024 Communiqué adopted at the 2024 Australian Coastal Councils Conference."

Sharon Cadwallader another highlight of the year was a study conducted by The University of Sydney into the impact of short-term holiday rental platforms on coastal regions, which was commissioned by the Association.

"The study found that coastal regions are experiencing the highest concentrations of short term listings in the nation," she said. "It found that the average density of short term listings in coastal regions was more than three times the national average.

"Coastal communities that participated in the study as case study areas emphasised the continued importance of enabling local councils to monitor and respond to the short term rental sector in ways that are tailored to their specific circumstances."

Sharon Cadwallader said another highlight of the year was the 2025 Australian Coastal Conference, which was held at Mooloolaba, on the Sunshine Coast, earlier in the year.

"This was one of the most successful events ever held by the Association and was attended by representatives of coastal councils from all states," she said. "The feedback from delegates attending the conference was extremely positive.

Sharon Cadwallader said the Association's Committee of Management looked forward to the remainder of the 2024-25 year with confidence. "The Association will continue to advocate for greater support from Federal and State Governments to assist coastal councils address widespread coastal risks," she said.

CSIRO cuts up to 350 jobs as it struggles with financial challenges

The CSIRO has announced it will cut up to 350 jobs as the national science agency struggles with long-term financial challenges.

The organisation said it had reached a "critical inflection point", with current funding failing to keep pace with the rising costs of running a modern science agency.

Chief executive Doug Hilton said the organisation would axe between 300 and 350 full-time equivalent roles across its research units.

"These are difficult but necessary changes to safeguard our national science agency so we can continue solving the challenges that matter to Australia and Australians," Dr Hilton said.

A statement by the CSIRO said an 18-month review of its research portfolio found it needed a sharper focus on areas like climate resilience, clean energy and advanced technologies.

A spokesperson said other research activities would "need to be de-prioritised", including in areas where the CSIRO lacks the scale to make a significant impact.

The organisation said the job losses would come from across the country but did not detail what positions were at risk.

It is the latest in the string of cuts at the CSIRO, with more than 800 positions slashed in the past 18 months.

The CSIRO Staff Association has criticised the decision, describing it as a "very sad day" for publicly funded science in Australia.

"These are some of the worst cuts the CSIRO has ever seen, and they're coming at a time when we should be investing in and building up public science," Staff Association secretary Susan Tonks said.

"The Albanese Labor government needs to fix this mess by committing to urgent funding that halts the cuts and secures the future of CSIRO's world-leading science and research."

The organisation employs more than 5,800 people across the country.

Federal Science Minister Tim Ayres acknowledged the news would be difficult for CSIRO staff.

"Reform is essential to make sure the facilities, research priorities and technologies of yesterday meet the needs of tomorrow," Mr Ayres said.

"This review - the first of its kind in over 15 years - will mean that CSIRO exits or scales back research in areas where that work is being undertaken by other parts of the R&D system and builds the foundation for strengthening and focusing effort in areas of national industrial science priority."

ACT Senator David Pocock said he was incredibly disappointed the government had not provided the funding the national science agency needed. "More than 1,000 Canberrans work at CSIRO, and they deserve better than ongoing job cuts and uncertainty," Senator Pocock said.

New network of wave buoys to boost understanding of coastal changes

Researchers at The University of Western Australia are building a national network of wave buoys to help understand the processes and changes driven by waves in the coastal zone.

The Integrated Marine Observing System (IMOS) Coastal Wave Buoys Facility, led by Dr Mike Cuttler and Professor Ryan Lowe from UWA's School of Earth and Oceans and UWA Oceans Institute, recently deployed buoys at sites around the country, with at least one new wave buoy in every state plus co-invested buoys from regional collaborators.

Dr Cuttler said Australia had one of the longest coastlines in the world, which included numerous critical ecosystems and infrastructure.

"Our coastal zone is also where many of us live, work and play and we know over 87 per cent of Australians live within 50 kilometres of the coast, with further growth predicted in coming decades, he said.

"Climate and human development are changing our coastal systems at an unprecedented rate, and more data is needed for planning to avoid or mitigate changes and sustainably manage this precious resource."

The 23 new IMOS wave buoys will complement an existing network of offshore and nearshore wave buoys deployed around Australia, which are maintained by federal and state government agencies as well as university research groups.

These include partnerships with the Western Australian Marine Science Institution, WA Departments of Jobs, Tourism, Science and Innovation and Primary Industries and Regional Development, Tidal Moon, Kimberley Marine Research Station and local governments.

The buoys measure wave height, period, and direction as well as water temperatures in nearshore waters, with sites varying in depth from 10m to 70m. These small, solar-powered wave buoys are low-cost and relatively easy to deploy.

Moored to the sea floor they will collect critical near real-time data required to verify and improve marine forecasts, inform marine operations and recreation, and form the basis of an improved understanding of ocean and coastal processes.

The near real-time data is easy to view and download via a new national website, Aus Waves, which was created by Dr Cuttler to collate data from IMOS wave buoys and merge it with existing websites created by regional partners to present the first nationally consistent platform for the display of, and access to, quality-controlled near real-time wave data.

Dr Cuttler said the AusWaves website presented unique coastal wave data in a user-friendly manner, designed to meet the needs of a wide range of coastal stakeholders.

"Through visual displays and the ability to download wave and surface temperature data, this new website will enable wider uptake of the data around Australia," he said.

In the subsequent election of office bearers Cr Karen Foster, of Moyne Shire Council in Victoria was elected Chair. Mayor Sharon Cadwallader, of Ballina Shire Council in NSW was elected Deputy Chair, and Cr Mark Jones, of the City of Rockingham in Western Australia was elected Treasurer.

Karen Foster said she spoke on behalf of all committee members when thanking Sharon for her input, guidance and wise counsel over the time she had been Chair. "We owe Sharon a huge debt of gratitude for her valuable input and we are glad she is continuing on the Committee as Deputy Chair," she said. "We will need that support and guidance in the future."

IN BRIEF

South Australia is latest state to examine ways of managing short-term rentals

The South Australian government is the latest state to examine ways of managing short-term rental accommodation in an effort to ease the housing crisis. This raises the question, with more regulation likely, of whether property investors are better off investing in the short-term rental market or sticking with the traditional approach of leasing property long-term. In the past decade, property investors have been attracted by the high yields that can be achieved with short-term rental properties. Short-term rentals remain an enticing option for investors who want to combine lifestyle and a side income. Properties listed on platforms such as Airbnb or Stayz, especially holiday homes near the coast or city apartments, offer the flexibility to enjoy the property yourself while letting guests cover a portion of the mortgage. During peak holiday seasons a well-positioned short-term rental can generate far more revenue than a long-term lease can deliver. However, cleaning and furnishing costs can quickly eat into returns.

Housing Affordability Driving Price Boom in NSW Tree-change areas

Housing affordability is driving a price boom in some of the unlikely of tree-change areas in NSW. Soaring demand has seen prices nearly double in Tweed, on the Far North Coast over the past five years to the end of September, up 83.3 per cent, and surge by 75.3 per cent in Muswellbrook in the Upper Hunter, and 73.3 per cent in the Snowy Monaro region in the south-east of the state. Other areas showing huge growth in that period include Albury, at 73.1 per cent, Nambucca on the mid north coast at 71.4 per cent, Singleton in the Hunter region at 66.7 per cent, and nearby Cessnock at 66.3 per cent. "People are being completely priced out of the Sydney market and there's a whole cohort looking for more affordability," said Terry Rawnsley, KPMG demographics specialist and director of planning and infrastructure economics. "We're seeing the ripple effect of higher prices, where they might see Tweed as a cheaper alternative to the Gold Coast, and Muswellbrook is now on people's radar as a result of the growth in prices in Newcastle and Maitland," he said.

South Australia's surf lifesavers join battle against algal bloom

As South Australia's surf life savers return to the state's beaches for the summer season, they have an additional task on their hands - inspecting for foam and discoloured water as the state grapples with the toxic algal bloom. Patrols will increase up to seven days a week at six metropolitan and two regional beaches and will continue through to the conclusion of daylight saving in April 2026. Premier Peter Malinauskas said while the majority of the state's beaches were unaffected by the algal bloom, the increased patrols would help people visit impacted areas with confidence. "If you have any doubt in your mind about whether or not you should enjoy the beach this summer, look to those beaches, Surf Life Saving will be there every single day," he said. "I am concerned that the perception of the bloom is doing more damage than the bloom itself." From December 1, patrols will increase to seven days a week at Semaphore, Henley, Glenelg, Brighton, Port Noarlunga, Moana, Aldinga and Goolwa beaches. Surf life savers are set to conduct daily inspections and ensure the red and yellow flags are placed in areas free of signs of the algal bloom, following morning clean-ups by crews. Surf Life Saving SA general manager, Shaun Faulkner, said clubs had been preparing for dealing with algal bloom challenges. He said regular summer activities are set to continue, including Nippers, community surf rescue courses, CALD water safety programs, and surf education.

AI-powered tool detects rip currents on smartphones

The Water Research Laboratory at the University of NSW is leading development of an AI-powered tool called RipEye that can detect rips through footage from smartphones.

The project is headed by Scientia Associate Professor Mitchell Harley, an expert in coastal technology, who developed the CoastSnap app in 2017.

CoastSnap is a community-driven initiative that uses images of beaches taken by beachgoers through strategically placed camera cradles to monitor changing coastal landscapes over time.

Mitchell Harley said using cameras to measure rip currents is cumbersome and not very flexible. "It requires a trained human eye to mine through the database and identify rips from images, and then organise them," he said.

"We started noticing some interesting AI tools, particularly coming out of driverless car technology, where cameras had the ability to detect objects in real-time. We realised this could be adapted to detecting rip currents."

He said the Water Research Laboratory has been collecting images of beaches for more than 25 years and has one of the largest databases in the world.

"One of my Phd students has spent the first 12 months of their research mining through 10,000 images of different beaches. "Through this laborious task RipEye has learnt to detect rip currents and adapt its knowledge to changing condition," Professor Harley said.

"A lot of AI tools are underpinned by humans performing cumbersome tasks to train them, particularly in vision data, but the Water Research Laboratory is in a unique position because of its vast database of imagery.

Mitchell Harley said Australia's coastline has about 11,000 beaches, and having active lifesaver patrols across all beaches throughout the year is simply not feasible.

He said he hopes that eventually RipEye will be available to anyone with a smartphone, to help beachgoers choose the safest spot to swim. Surf Life Saving Australia is currently using the tool in controlled testing environments.

"RipEye currently has about 80% detection success, which is impressive when you consider detection by a human is around 50% for someone with a trained eye," Professor Harley said.

Association to Conduct National Coastal Hazards Survey

The Association is to conduct a national survey of Australian coastal councils to gauge the extent and impact of coastal hazards on coastal councils and to explore options for responding to coastal erosion, inundation and other hazards.

This follows advice received from the Federal Climate Change Minister, Chris Bowen MP, which outlined the process being undertaken by the Federal Government to develop a National Coastal Hazards Management Framework and an Action Plan for the National Adaptation Plan.

Association Chair, Karen Foster, said the Minister had invited the Association to take part in this process.

“This is a great opportunity to gather input from coastal councils on the support they need to manage the impact of coastal hazards and to feed it into a submission to the Energy and Climate Change Ministerial Council, which has carriage of this matter,” she said.

“The findings of the survey would be used to advocate for greater support and guidance for coastal councils in responding to coastal risks and to achieve a coordinated national approach to dealing with coastal hazards.”

Karen Foster said there is a good deal of work involved in undertaking the survey, but the findings of a previous survey, conducted five years ago, had made a valuable contribution to the work being undertaken at the time by the Intergovernmental Coastal Hazards Working Group, which represented all states and territories.

“We plan to undertake a similar survey to find out what is happening around Australia at a local government level that is impacting on councils’ ability to manage coastal hazards,” she said.

“This is a major issue affecting coastal communities around the nation and we welcome the invitation from Minister Bowen to make meaningful input into the process.”

Karen Foster said the Association planned to send the survey to all Australian coastal councils. She said there had been a very strong response to the previous survey and she anticipated a similar strong response to the new survey.

She said the Association planned to have the survey finalized by the second half of 2026, bearing in mind that the Action Plan on the National Adaptation Plan is to be referred to the Ministerial Council towards the end of the year.

Karen Foster encouraged all coastal councils to participate in the survey. “The process being undertaken by the Federal Government is very important,” she said.

“The National Coastal Hazards Management Framework and the Action Plan for the National Adaptation Plan will have a significant effect on the ability of coastal councils to manage the impact of coastal hazards for years to come.

“This is a great opportunity for coastal councils to make meaningful input into the development of coastal policy for the long term.”

Airbnb worsening Victoria's Housing Affordability – New Report

The corporatisation of Airbnb is worsening Victoria's housing affordability crisis, particularly in hotspots such as the Bass Coast and Mornington Peninsula, a new report states.

The report, which analysed four years of Airbnb listings data, found the short-stay accommodation platform has departed from its original "sharing economy" model in which travellers stay with a homeowner or at an owner's property while they are away.

Instead, most places listed on Airbnb are now owned by a landlord who leases multiple properties through the platform and does not live or stay there and often outsources management to a third party.

This changing trend is significant because the growing number of non-hosted short-term rentals offered on Airbnb is removing thousands of potential long-term rental homes from the market. In 2019, 55 per cent of short-stay residential properties listed on Airbnb across Australia were hosted by a resident. By 2023, that figure had decreased to 42 per cent, with 58 per cent of listed properties not hosted.

"There are now more listings for entire homes than there are for hosted rentals, which is a shift away from the original premise of platforms like Airbnb for property owners to host visitors in spare rooms," Monash University research fellow Dr Michaela Lang said. Dr Lang was the lead author of a report by the Australian Housing and Urban Research Institute, which found Airbnb has transformed from a platform of hosts to ghosts.

From 2019 to 2023, the number of hosted homes on Airbnb fell by 32 per cent, from 73,000 to 50,000, while non-hosted properties rose by 15 per cent from 60,000 to 69,000, the report found. Nowhere is this trend more pronounced than in coastal Victoria. The number of non-hosted properties on the Mornington Peninsula surged by 28 per cent, from about 2500 in 2019 to 3300 in 2023, making the tourist region the nation's Airbnb heartland.

Bass Coast Shire, which includes short-stay hotspot Phillip Island, experienced a 30 per cent surge in the same four-year period, while listings in central Melbourne fell significantly, from 2600 in 2019 to less than 2000 in 2023.

Dr Lang said the decline in Airbnb listings in the City of Melbourne was part of a national trend, with Sydney and Brisbane also dropping off, while the number of non-hosted listings rose sharply in holiday locations such as the Whitsundays, Noosa and the Barossa Valley.

"These places have all had short-stay rental accommodation for a long time, but Airbnb's emergence as a dominant platform on the market had coincided with a worsening housing shortage," she said.

"For some of these towns, housing has just become incredibly unaffordable and unavailable," she said. "Tourists can be great for your business, but some of those areas are hitting densities where it's difficult to get staff because it's so difficult to find housing."

Sydney shark attacks “unprecedented”

The chief executive of Surf Life Saving NSW, Steve Pearce, has described recent shark attacks along the NSW coastline as “unprecedented”.

Mr Pearce said there were four attacks by bull sharks within 48 hours at Sydney and regional beaches. “We have not seen this before,” he said.

“We have had major runoff coming out of every creek and every outlet into the beaches following the heavy rainfall in Sydney over the weekend,” Steve Pearce said. “This turns the water extremely turbid and brackish which provides ideal conditions for bull sharks.”

Around 20 Sydney beaches were closed for two days following the attacks.

The bull shark is a species commonly found worldwide in warm, shallow waters along coasts and in rivers. It is known for its aggressive nature, and presence mainly in warm, shallow brackish and freshwater systems, including estuaries and the lower reaches of rivers.

The first in the series of attacks occurred at about 4.20pm on 18 January at Vaucluse, in Sydney Harbour, when a 12-year-old boy was seriously injured as a result of a suspected bull shark attack. Sadly, the 12-year-old later died in hospital.

Early the following day, a suspected bull shark bit a 15cm chunk of fiberglass from an 11-year-old boy’s surfboard at Dee Why beach, about 5km north of Manly. Fortunately, the boy was not injured.

Later the same day a surfer in his 20s was attacked at Manly’s North Steyne Beach. He suffered extensive leg injuries and was rushed to Royal North Shore Hospital in a critical condition, where he remains, after paramedics first rendered CPR on the sands of North Steyne.

Then, on 20 January, a surfer who had been camping at a National Parks camping ground on the NSW Mid North Coast was attacked by what is believed to be a bull shark. He was taken to hospital by a bystander.

Swimmers and surfers keen to visit the beach along NSW’s North Coast have been urged to reconsider taking a dip in the water as hazardous conditions continue to unfold.

“Northern Sydney beaches were shut for the safety of surfers and swimmers for 48 hours,” Steve Pearce said.

Helicopters monitored 10 beaches up and down the coast over the following two days to watch for more shark activity.

“The beaches are unsafe with these conditions. We’re asking people to ensure their own personal safety,” Steve Pearce said.

IN BRIEF

WA towns seek to control overtourism

As Western Australian tourist towns experience an influx of summer visitors, some locals are worried their hometowns could become too crowded unless visitor numbers are controlled. At one of the South West's biggest attractions, the Busselton Jetty, visitation has grown by more than 60 per cent over the past decade. As many as 10,000 people visited the jetty between Christmas and New Year's Day. Staff have been looking at ways to avoid overtourism in the future. Busselton Jetty CEO Lisa Shreeve said she was conscious of keeping the place 'special'. "When you go to places around the world like the Trevi Fountain and you see 10,000 people standing there, it really impacts your experience if you have to be so congested," she said. "The Busselton Jetty is special, and we don't want to lose that." Ms Shreeve said the team would consider limiting the number of people on tours and other ways to spread out visitation. In the neighbouring town of Dunsborough, the chair of the local tourism reference group said he wanted the town's visitor numbers capped by limiting accommodation spots.

Microbes in tree bark found to consume harmful greenhouse gases

The role of trees in combating carbon dioxide is well known, but a study by researchers from Southern Cross and Monash universities has found that microbes in trees on the Tweed Coast are consuming harmful greenhouse gases, including methane, hydrogen and carbon monoxide. Bob Leung, study co-author and Monash University research fellow in microbiology, said the discovery rewrote what researchers knew about the role of trees in shaping the atmosphere. "Each tree hosts trillions of microbial cells in its bark," Dr Leung said. "Yet their existence and roles have been overlooked for many decades now." Co-author and Southern Cross University postdoctoral researcher, Luke Jeffrey, said the role bark played in cleaning the air had not been well studied. "We've looked deep into the bark microbiome of different Australian trees and what we have discovered is that there is this diverse and abundant microbial community living off direct and indirect greenhouse gases," Dr Jeffrey said. "We're just pretty excited about this research, because it suggests there's this hidden ecological and other climate-regulating role of trees, beyond just capturing CO₂ (carbon dioxide)." The information could be used to inform decisions on the best trees to plant in particular areas to eliminate toxic gases in those environments. Drownings surge in Australia

Surf Life Saving Australia reports that in 2025 Australian drowning deaths reached their worst level in three decades. Tragically, 357 drownings were reported between July 1 2024 and June 30 2025, with many more non-fatal incidents, a Surf Life Saving Australia spokesperson said. Australian drowning fatalities have surged because of "crisis-level" declines in swimming skills, especially among regional, remote and migrant communities. Swimming at unpatrolled beaches and inland waterways that typically don't have lifesaving services has also contributed to these deadly trends. So too has rock fishing. With people off work during the summer holidays, drowning risk is even higher than normal. The Surf Life Saving spokesperson said education and awareness remain tried and tested ways to reduce drowning fatalities. For example, the spokesperson said, this summer, Surf Life Saving Australia's virtual Beach Passport Campaign is enabling the public to easily locate patrolled beaches.
